This Translation,

IS, WITH PERMISSION, RESPECTFULLY DEDICATED.

PREFACE.

THE following pages contain a complete, and, it is believed, an accurate set of Bengalese Zumeendaree accounts.

The only work of a similar nature that has hitherto issued from the press was published by Mr. Gladwin, in the year 1790; and it is now out of print.

The omissions that were made in Mr. Gladwin's work, and designated by him as "useless details and repetitions," tended, however, most materially to render those accounts extremely indistinct; for all Zumeendaree papers are so blended together, that the omission of a single part renders the whole almost unintelligible.

In the present work, every detail has been included; and a few explanatory remarks have been moreover prefixed to the Accounts, that will tend to elucidate them; and it is trusted that the compilation altogether will be of some use in facilitating an accurate acquaintance with Zumeendaree details, and in promoting both the interests of the government and the happiness of the people.

The separation of the pages in the original Bengalese accounts is indicated in the translation by a thick line across the page.

It should also be mentioned, that the Bengal land-measures are expressed in Beghas, Cottahs, and Puns; a Begha containing 20 Cottahs, a Cottah 4 Puns, and a Pun (which is a cubit, or about 18 inches,) 20 Gundahs. The pecuniary value is stated in Rupees, Annas, Gundahs, and Cowries; of which 4 Cowries make one Gundah, 20 Gundahs one Anna, and 16 Annas one Rupee, equal to about two shillings.

ZUMEENDAREE ACCOUNTS.

THE CHITTAH.

THIS document is of the utmost importance to the Zumeendar. It contains a full account of all the lands on his estate, and is the groundwork on which the other papers are formed. In his disputes with the neighbouring landholders regarding boundaries, water-courses, &c., this paper is always referred to; in the disputes also that arise amongst the Ryots, they invariably appeal to the Chittah.

There are no stated periods for measuring an estate, but a measurement generally takes place every ten or twenty years; though of late they have become much more frequent in Bengal, being a source of great emolument to the Zumeendars, both by the discovery of lands not brought on the rent-roll, and by the sums which on different pretences they extort from the Ryots.

When a measurement takes place, all the Ryots and Paiks are required to be in attendance, and the Ameen (or surveyor) and his people are paid by an Abwab (or tax) laid on them. The persons employed on this duty are generally one Ameen, one Rusunburdar or chain-bearer, and one Mohurrur or writer. The measurement usually takes place in the months of Mang, Phalgun, Chyt, and Bysak, as during these months there are no crops on the ground, except in some places the boro fusl, which is a species of rice cultivated in very low, wet lands, that are under water at almost all seasons of the year.

When the old Chittahs are not forthcoming, the measurement is commenced de novo, and is called an eksan jureeb. If the old papers are in existence, they measure the land by them; this measurement is always considered the best and most correct. Sometimes they only examine the land by comparing it with the old Chittahs; this is called a numooda.

The quantity of land measured daily by the Amcen is of course regulated by the nature of the ground, and by the frequency or otherwise of the disputes that arise with the Ryots.

The measurement is always begun at some well-known place in the village, as a Tank, a Chundcemundub, an old Pepul tree, &c.; and that being noted in the Chittah, the next parcel of land, or dag. is numbered 1, and is stated to be to the south of that tank, or north of that tree, as the case may be; and so on to the end of the measurement, always adhering as far as practicable to the customs of the village in measuring such a turuf or such a chuk first or second, &c. &c.

It may be necessary also to add, that in the Amcen's field-book the numbers follow each other numerically, one, two, three, four, &c., he adding a memorandum as to the denomination of the land; but when the Chittahs are made out, the land is regularly arranged into the different Mohals of Ryotec, Khamar, &c., without any attention to the number attached to the parcel. Thus, in the first Chittah, we shall find numbers 1 and 2 in the Khodkast Mohal; 3, 4, and 5, in the Paekast; and number 6 again in the Deotur. These days or parcels that do not follow each other numerically are called dag bha-o-ra.

There are eight terms and abbreviations especially used in the Chittahs, as follows:—

Todu	.	.	.	meaning	.	.	.	North.
Todo	South.
Topu	East.
Tupo	West.

Dendu, signifying that there is a parcel of land between the number last mentioned and the next dag, or a little to the north of the land immediately north.

Dendo, a little to the south of south.

Denpu, a little to the east of east.

Denpo, a little to the west of west.

For an example of the four last terms, suppose Bydenath Paik, No. 7—3 B. of Shalee: if the next should be “Dendo of that No. 8,” it would mean that there was a strip of land immediately to the south; but that beyond that strip of land was No. 8.

In order, however, to facilitate as much as possible the full understanding of the different revenue-terms used, it may be perhaps useful to prefix a Glossary, containing a brief explanation of the different terms that occur in these accounts.

GLOSSARY OF REVENUE-TERMS.

Chittah. An account of all the lands in the village, divided numerically into dags or shares. It contains the quantity of land in each dag, the species of cultivation, and the name of the Ryot to whom it belongs.

Khalisa. The exchequer. Hence, when the term is applied to land, it signifies land the revenues of which are paid into the exchequer; as distinguished from other descriptions of land, the government share of whose produce has been assigned to others.

Mujura-een. Derived from Mujura, signifying an allowance. Hence, when applied to land, it means such lands as have been assigned away as an allowance, and which consequently do not pay any revenue.

Ryotee. Of or belonging to a Ryot. When applied to land, signifying those lands the government dues of which are paid in money.

- Khamar*. Land of which, when cultivated, the rents are paid in kind, not money.
- Aymah*. Land granted by the supreme authority, subject to a small quit-rent, to learned and religious persons.
- Chakeran*. Land appropriated for the maintenance of the public servants of the village establishments.
- Shalee*. Land which produces rice called shalee amun, or amun d'han. It is considered the best crop. The seed is generally put in the ground in Assar, the plant is transplanted in Sawun, and the crop cut in Poos.
- Sona*. Land which produces the a'o-onse d'han, which is cut in Bhadun, and generally sown in Jeth.
- Khodkast*. Land cultivated by Ryots who reside in the village; literally, self-sown.
- Paekast*. Land cultivated by Ryots who do not belong to the village.
- Theeka*. Land cultivated by hire or contract.
- Deotur*. Land granted in the names of the Hindoo deities, for religious purposes, and held under a rent-free tenure.
- Bruhmuttur*. Land granted to Brahmuns for the performance of religious worship.
- Mohuturan*. Land granted to Caits, Byds, and Sudurs, for the performance of certain religious duties.
- Sona danga*. High land, which cannot be irrigated. It produces mustard, sugar-cane, &c.
- Danga curpo*. Land producing the cotton plant.
- Peerutur*. Land granted rent-free to Mohomedan sages.
- Bustomittur*. Land granted to the Bustoms or Hindoo religious mendicants.
- Fukeeran*. Land granted to Fukeers, or Mohomedan religious mendicants.

THE GOOSHWARAH.

THE Gooshwarah is an abstract of the Chittahs, and is consequently prepared when those documents are completed.

This paper simply contains the gross amount of the land included in the Chittahs, which, in some large villages, where the Chittahs are four or five in number, is absolutely necessary as a paper of reference, that the Zumeendar may know what lands are actually contained in his estate.

Thus, for example: on a reference to the first leaf of the Gooshwarah, we observe that the total quantity of waste land in Gopalpoor is 28 beghas; viz. 25 B. 10 C. in the first Chittah, and 2 B. 10 C. in the second. By examining further it will appear, that the whole of this waste is Khalisa, and that it is all contained in the Khamar Mohal. By referring back to the details of the Khamar Mohal, we shall find that these 25 B. 10 C. are contained in Nos. 16, 17, and 29. In the same way, by referring back to the details of the Khamar Mohal in the second Chittah, it will appear that the 2 B. 10 C. are contained in Nos. 13, 22, and 24. Should the Zumeendar of Gopalpoor, therefore, imagine that any Ryot or neighbouring landholder has encroached on the Khamar Mohal (say, for example, on the parcel No. 13), he has only to measure it, and the fact will be immediately ascertained; as the Chittah states, that No. 13 is in length 2 B. 14 C., and in breadth 3 C. Total, 8 C. of Road.

This example will shew the use of the Gooshwarah, and the extreme simplicity of the accounts.

THE CUTEAN.

HAVING disposed of the Chittahs and Gooshwarah, the next account we come to is termed the Cutean.

To form this document, the Chittahs are carefully examined; and the name of the first Khodkast Ryot being entered at the top of the page, all the land he may possess in that particular Mohal is entered underneath, specifying in which Chittah it is contained, the number or dag, the quantity of land, and the species of cultivation.

When the Khodkast Ryots are entered, the Paeekast Ryots are extracted in the same way, and thus throughout each separate Mohal.

This paper is of great utility in settling disputed boundaries amongst the Ryots, being in fact a key to the Chittah; it is also the principal document upon which the Jumma-bundee is formed. As an example of the use of the Cutean, let us suppose that Ram Doolal Pal complains that Ram Soonder Ghos has encroached on his compound. On referring to Ram Doolal's name in the Cutean it will appear, that he has, in the 2d Chittah, 3d No., 3 c. of land near to house or compound. By examining the Chittah it will further appear, that this parcel of land is 11 c. in length, and 6 c. in breadth. Having thus clearly ascertained these points, we must now refer to Ram Soonder Ghos's name in the Cutean; by that paper it appears, that he holds in the 2d Chittah, 4th No., 3 B. 1 c. of Sona Danga land; which parcel, a reference to the Chittah will shew, is 2 B. 7 c. in length, and 1 B. 6 c. in breadth, and that it is to the west of the parcel of land which (Ram Doolal Pal alleges) has been encroached upon.

If the respective parcels of ground are, therefore, measured, the truth or falsehood of the complaint will be immediately discovered.

In the same way, all complaints relative to dispossession from rent-free tenures may be investigated, as the Cudeean contains the same particulars relative to those lands.

THE EKWAL.

THIS paper gives the gross amount of the land in each individual Ryot's possession, in each separate Mohal, with a detail of the cultivation. When the Jummabundee is formed, this document must (as well as the Cuteean) be referred to, in order to ascertain the description of land in each Ryot's possession, that the Jumma or rent may be settled accordingly. It further serves as a check upon the other papers and accounts, as the General Abstracts of this paper ought to tally precisely with the General Abstracts of the Gooshwarah; consequently, no alteration can be made in the one without a corresponding alteration being made in the other.

THE CUTEAN TERIDGE.

THE Cuteean Teridge shews (noting at the same time in which Mohal it is placed) the total gross amount of land in each Ryot's possession, and the details of the cultivation.

Lands that do not pay revenue are not, however, included in this document.

The Cuteean shewed that Ram Doolal Pal held 9 B. 5 C. of land in the Khodkast Mohal, and the Ekwai shewed (drawn out into a regular form) the species of cultivation contained in those 9 B. 5 C.; but it would have been necessary to have examined those papers minutely before we discovered that he also held 3 B. 13 C. in the Theeka Mohal. The Cuteean Teridge shews all these particulars at one view; for by referring to Ram Doolal's name, it will be seen that he holds 9 B. 5 C. in the Khodkast, and 3 B. 13 C. in the Theeka Mohal. In the same way, if he possessed land in any other Mohal, it would be regularly entered under his name.

THE JUMMA-BUNDEE.

THE quantity and quality of the lands on the estate being accurately known and laid down, the next step is to proceed to assess them, by fixing a fair and equitable rate, or nerik, on the different descriptions of land, according to which every Ryot is to pay.

This account is called the Jumma-bundee, and is prepared in a form, shewing the quality of the land, the quantity, the rate, and, lastly, the total rent, according to that rate, demandable from each individual Ryot.

The Zumeendar is authorised by the Bengal regulations to levy his rents according to the Purgunnah rates: a term, however, so very indefinite, and (where the respective interests of the parties concerned are so very different) so likely to create dispute, that it is a subject of regret that, at the time of the formation of the Perpetual Settlement, no attempt was made to define more accurately the relative rights of the Zumeendar and Ryot, and no stronger barrier erected to afford protection to the tenantry of Bengal.

On this subject Mr. Hastings, as far back as November 1776, states as follows:—"It is sufficient for me to observe, that, while the Ryot pays his rent, the Zumeendar has no right to dispossess him; nor can the Zumeendar by any legal right exact a higher rent from him than his Pottah prescribes:" to which, perhaps, might be added; "and should no Pottah or other specific engagement exist, so long as the Ryot pays according to the rent he has heretofore paid, or the Jumma'ee guzustu o pywustu, no Zumeendar has any right to levy more, unless the Ryot voluntarily agrees to the payment, or unless, on a regular judicial inquiry, a higher rate has been awarded."

THE TOWJEE.

As the Jumma-bundee shewed the rent demandable from each Ryot, so the Towjee is the detail of the months in which that rent is demandable. The word Towjee means literally, "Calling attention," and is hence used as a name for this paper, by its calling the attention of the Zumeendar to the rents he has to receive in each month.

THE TULUB-BAQEE.

THE Tulub-baqee, literally translated, is "Demand balance." The rent demandable from the Ryot for the year is entered on one side of the page, and the payments are entered, according to the dates on which they are respectively made, on the other.

Any balance of former years, or "Bukiya-baqee," is added to the sum demandable, as by the Jumma-bundee of the current year; and at the end of the year, the balance being struck, whatever remains due is either liquidated by distress, sale of property, &c. &c., or, if a small sum, carried on to the account of the next year.

The fidelity of the Tulub-baqee may be proved by a reference to the Seeah, as the daily entries in that paper should correspond exactly with the entries made in the Tulub-baqee. The total balance should also correspond with the total balance of the Jumma-wasil-baqee.

THE KURCHA HISAB.

THIS account contains on one side of the page a detailed statement of the land as by the Ekwai and Jumma-bundee, with the amount of the rent demandable from each species of cultivation.

Should any mutations have taken place after drawing up the last account, it will be entered under the head of Kharij, Dakhil, Kumee, Beshee, as the case may be.

On the other side of the page is entered the total demand of rent; and the total sum collected (after deducting any money that may be due on account of Batta, &c.) being deducted from that, the balance is put down, which ought to agree with the balance shewn in the Tulub-baqee.

THE JUMMA-WASIL-BAQEE.

THIS is the detailed account of the rent demandable, the rent actually collected, and the rent still due, as made out at the end of the year.

The form of this document is, in some districts, different from what exists in others; some including (as in the specimen now given) an account of the land as well as the rent, while others give the rent alone.

The former is more satisfactory, but the latter is less complicated.

The Jumma-wasil-baqee generally in use under the native governments, was drawn out, by the ingenuity of the Mo-hurrurs of Bengal, to an enormous length.

The various items of Chout, Nuzurana, Salamee, Pool-bundee, Dustooree, Gram Kurch, Mahtoot, Marocha, Par-bunee, Khelat, and many other impositions that existed at that period, having, however, been entirely abolished, the rent is now consolidated under one specific head.

The form might possibly be still very much curtailed in length, and remain of equal utility; but it was considered preferable to print the paper as it actually now exists in the Moofusul, than to make any alterations in it whatever.

SRI SRI DOORGAH,

THE PROTECTRESS.

Jumma-krasil-baqee of Cash for the Village of Gopalpoor, Purgunnah Jehanabad, Surcer Satgaon, the Tulook of Srijut Gour Mohun Roy Chowdry, the well-intentioned. YEAR 1223.

THE SEEAH.

THE Seeah, or Seeaha, is the daily ledger or account-book of the receipts and disbursements of the village.

It commences the day on which the Pooniah is performed, and terminates with the current year.

An original Seeah has three distinguishing marks at the top of the first page; for during the Poojah, or religious ceremony (which always precedes the Pooniah), the Brahmun who performs the ceremony mixes a small quantity of sindhoor (or red ochre) with some ghee, and some huldee (or turmeric) and chundun (or sandal-wood) with water; and a small portion of these three mixtures, each about the size of a rupee, is put upon the first leaf of the Secah, the name of some Hindoo deity having been previously engrossed.

The Poojah, or worship, is usually performed by the Poorkayut Brahmun of the Pooniah Patur Ryot; though it is sometimes performed by the Poorkayut Brahmun of the Gomastu.

The Ryot whose family have for generations been in the habit of paying the first money at the Pooniah, is denominated the Pooniah Patur Ryot; and at the Pooniah he pays (according to custom) his rupee or two into the hands of the Gomastu, who, taking it, makes it over to the Brahmun, who places it in the tilea, or receiving vessel.

The Poojah is generally in honour of Lutchmee, the goddess of fortune; and the time of performing it is fixed by the Brahmuns, who choose some hour and day which they consider fortunate and auspicious.

The Pooniah usually takes place in the months of Jet'h and Assar.

The Seeah will be found to contain all the sums received, whether of regular or miscellaneous revenue; and the same with regard to disbursements. The different items of rent should correspond exactly with the Tulub-baqee. It may be proper also to add, that the payments are generally, in large villages, collected from the Ryots by the Gomastu's issuing small slips of paper called "Dowl Khuzana," which contain the name of the Ryot and the sum due by him for the current kist; and when the money is collected by the Paik, it is paid over to the Gomastu in the name of the Ryot from whom it is so levied.

TERIDGE JUMMA KURCH.

THIS account is an abstract of the Seeah, and is made up annually from that document. It shews, in a clear and concise manner, the total collections and the total disbursements, the accuracy of which may be ascertained by a reference to the Seeah. The document itself is usually submitted by the Gomastu to the Zumeendar at the close of the year, when the accounts are finally passed.
